Happy Summer

By Sylvie

The summer holidays are approaching and after a long year of school it is time to RELAX!!!!!! For some of us that means sunbathing at the beach with family but for others just enjoying your own company reading. Whatever it is this article is full of fun activities to enjoy during the warm weather like how to make ice lollies.

How to make ice lollies

This simple guide makes approximately 5 yogurt smoothie lollies in under 10 minutes and is perfect for any warm day.

Ingredients

- 500ml Natural yogurt
- 75g Fresh fruit
- ½ Banana
- 5tsp Honey / jam
- Ice lolly mould / a plastic cup with a lolly stick in

Method

1. Mix your natural yogurt and honey / jam in a bowl.
2. Chop the half of a banana into small pieces and combine with the yogurt.
3. Cut your fruit into chunks.
4. Pour the mix into your mould along with the fruit.
5. Pop into the freezer and leave for at least 2 hours.

Fun days out

The summer holidays is the perfect time to get out in nature. Around Bury there are many beautiful places to go for a day trip:

- High Lodge (Thetford Forest) is based on a selection of Julia Donaldson like the Gruffalo and Stick Man with many adventurous playgrounds, places to get food and GoApe.
- West Stow is formed around a Saxon Village and has many woodland trails like the Beowulf Trail
- The Abbey Gardens, located on Angel Hill, is filled with ruins of the town's old abbey and a flower maze.

WORLD CUP

Jess, Marta and Storie

The world cup is an exciting time for football fans internationally, especially for England fans as England has gotten to the quarter-finals for the first time in years. It is a sad time for some people because Messi, Ronaldo and other well-known players are leaving.

Why are some people leaving?

Some famous players are not coming back to the world cup next time, but why? Well lets find out, Ronaldo, Messi and many other famous players are not coming back to the world cup next time, well this is because of their age. You see, when a footballer gets to a certain age they have to resign and move on.

Year 6

INDIAN BANQUET

By Sylvie

On the 21st of May, the Year 6s held an Indian banquet for the parents. We got the chance to chop vegetables and some people even chose to cut Scotch Bonnet chiles to go in the curry. Then we needed the dough to make naan bread.

In art, we made batik. Firstly we drew out are design onto fabric. Then we traced over our design with wax to repel colour from spreading into other sections. Afterwards, we used brusho to add colour.

We also created rangoli. This is a traditional Indian design often made with coloured sand to decorate streets. We began by drawing a pattern the the first quarter of our page.

Most people chose geometric pattern. Then we reflected them into the other portions. Finally we coloured them in.

As part of our Indian dance we decorated our hands with henna. We drew the picture with the brown paste and let it dry for half an hour. Then when we took it off it looked orange. After another couple hours it became darker.

Our dance was to the song 'Jai Ho!' by the Pussycat Dolls and everyone loved learning the vibrant choreography.

OCEAN ANIMALS & SPECIAL FACTS

Hello and welcome to my page all about marine animals and special facts about them. Let's explore!!!!!!

DOLPHIN

- Dolphins have a 'superpower' called sonar, which means they can hear out of their ears.*
- Dolphins don't drink water, even though they live in the ocean, they never drink saltwater. They get all of their fresh water from juicy fish.*
- Dolphins have completely lost almost all of their taste buds. Since they swallow everything whole anyway, having a sense of taste isn't necessary for them!*

Orca/Killer whale

-Even though people call them "whales" killer whales actually belong to the dolphin family. They are simply the biggest dolphins in the world!

-A full-grown killer whale can grow as long as a big yellow school bus and weigh as much as an elephant.

-In freezing waters, a pod of orcas will swim side-by-side toward an ice floe. They flap their tails perfectly in sync to create a massive wave that washes seals right off the ice and into the water!

Sharks

-Sharks do not have a single bone in their bodies! Instead, their skeletons are made entirely of cartilage, which is the exact same soft, bendy material that makes up your ears and the tip of your nose. This makes them super light and flexible swimmers.

-Sharks don't just have one row of teeth like us. They have between 5 and 15 rows of teeth lined up inside their mouths like a conveyor belt.

Fish

-Instead of lungs like us, fish use gills to breathe. As water flows through their mouths and out their gills, they pull oxygen directly out of the water.

-Fish never close their eyes because they do not have eyelids! When they sleep, they just float in place or hide in a safe rock while keeping their eyes completely wide open.

-Most fish have an air-filled balloon inside their belly called a swim bladder. By filling it with gas, they can float perfectly in place without sinking or floating to the top.

Crabs

-Crabs do not have bones inside their bodies like you do. Instead, they wear their skeleton like a suit of armor on the outside, which is called an exoskeleton!

-Crabs do not have teeth inside their mouths. Instead, they use their claws to tear up food, and they have a special set of three teeth inside their stomachs that grinds the food up after they swallow it!

Starfish

- If a starfish loses any body part ,e.g. an arm, to a predator, it can slowly grow a brand-new one. Some can even grow an entirely new starfish from just a single, detached body part..
- Instead of a brain or even blood, they use filtered seawater to pump nutrients throughout their nervous system
- They have tiny eyespots at the tips of each arm that help them sense light and dark.

Thank you for reading my article. I hope you enjoyed this and have learned at least one more fascinating fact about marine animals!!!!

THE BIG DEBATE

By Jess

Hello everyone and welcome back to The Big Debate. Today we're going to be discussing whether or not pineapple belongs on pizza. I personally LOVE pineapple on pizza although my friend Celeste dislikes the idea {how!!!!!!}! So what do you think? Let's explore both sides.

Does pineapple belong on pizza?

Yes-it does

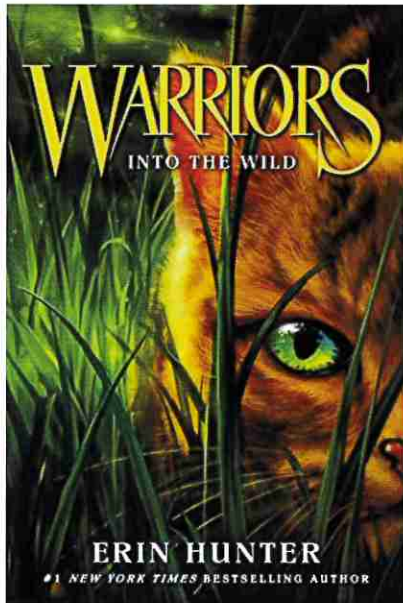

Pineapple belongs on pizza because its natural sweetness and acidity provide a crucial contrast to savory, fatty ingredients like cheese and ham. The caramelization of pineapple during baking enhances flavor complexity, while its fibrous, juicy texture adds a refreshing, tangy counterpoint to the dense, salty pizza base. You can always take off the pineapple and eat it separately.

No-it doesn't

Pineapple is often considered out of place on pizza due to its high moisture content, which causes soggy crusts, and its strong, sweet acidity, which clashes with the savory, flavor profile of traditional tomato sauce and cheese on the pizza.

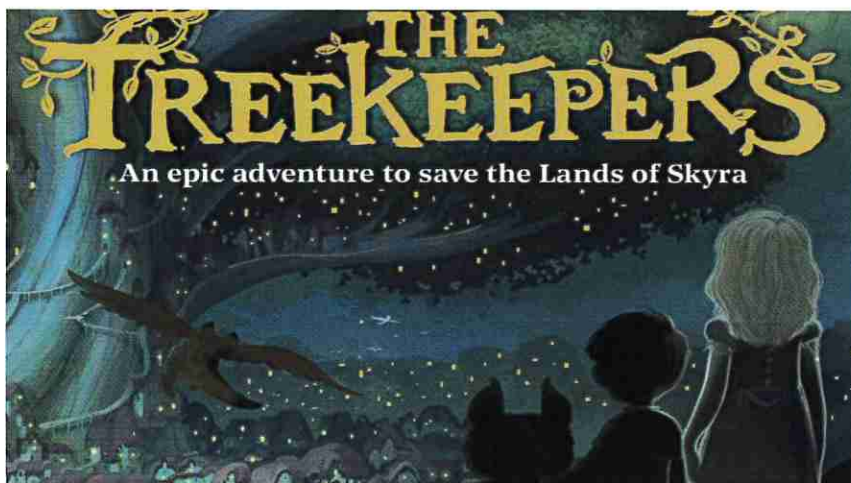

Book recommendation

By Ariella

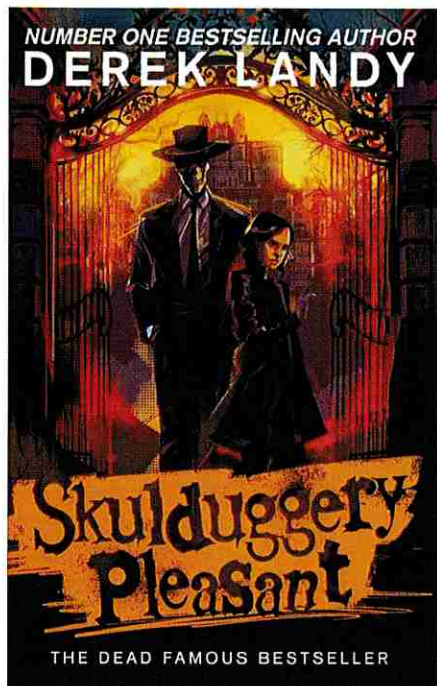

WARRIORS by erin hunter

This book series includes 48 books of a cat civilization with rules and codes like ours. It has particular roles. This franchise also has 15 mangas, 18 novellas with 6 short stories in each and 18 super editions.

The treekeepers is a singular book written by kiran larwood about a magical land where their elder tree is dying and they need to save it so a band of heros set out to save it.

Skulduggery Pleasant is a bone-chilling series that includes magic beyond your imagination with clerics and teleporters to elementals and adepts as well as necromancy and their own religion. The main series concludes in book 18 though the story is not really over, due to the copious amounts of novellas and spin-offs.
